HERING 100% In-house Production

HERING AG continues to focus on a very high level of vertical integration and invests in employees and technology at its site in Gunzenhausen, Germany.

We rely on the latest welding technology, achieving maximum process efficiency and setting quality standards.

By expanding our own production capacities, we remain flexible and independent in our growing markets and can exactly meet our customers' needs.

Combined with our in-house design and engineering, we offer 100% customized solutions.
