HERING AG passed the regular audit of the quality management

The company Hering AG established a quality management system according to EN ISO 9001:2000 in the year 2004.

In late 2016, Hering AG had already completely changed to the new standard on the quality management (EN ISO 9001:2015). Thereby Hering AG was among the first 5 % of all companies in Germany, which had changed to the latest version of the standard.

We passed the regular focus audit for the EN ISO 9001:2015 without any variances in February 2018. Lloyd's Register issued a new certificate of approval.

Please find our certificates for the quality management system and our other certifications (ASME, AD2000, welding technique, etc.) on our homepage under www.hering-ag.de/quality.html.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions!
